

ABSTRACT

The adjustable thumb pick for stringed musical instruments includes a thumb retainer with a band member that forms a thumb passage. The band member has band ends and a band slot. A pick includes an integral post. The integral post is received in the band slot. An enlarged free end of the post permits the post to rotate relative to the slot. The post can also slide into two or more positions within the slot.